JUDICIARY LOST DESPITE APPEAL OF MILAM BAR

PEOPLE TURN BACK ENCROACHMENT ON MAGNA CHARTER OF THE FATHERS

Accompanying will be found a table showing the vote for and against the amendments in Milam county as tabulated Thursday morning from 37 boxes out of a total of 48 boxes for the county.

As will be seen more than 2300 votes were cast in the county indicating more than usual interest in amendment elections.

The judiciary amendment for which the committee from the Milam county bar made a special appeal lost with the remainder of the amendments in the county however polling a larger vote than other measures but defeated by a vote of 2037 to 232.

Opposition to the amendments was active in the county, considerable canvassing being done, with much publicity for and against the measures.

The accusation of the governor that the result was dictated by lethargy and the activity of corporate interests is not enforced by the count, either in Milam county or over the state.

BUCKHOLTS DEFEATS PRAIRIE HILL HERE

ZEKE ALFORD TOO MUCH FOR OPPOSING TEAM IN WALK AWAY HERE

Zeke Alford was too much for the Prairie Hill team in the first play off game in the News-Tribune cup race Monday afternoon and Buckholts Bulldogs walked away with the game 17 to 5.

The Prairie Hill team used practically every man on the team for pitcher but could not stop the hard hitting Buckholts team.

The Buckholts team is in the play-off for the News-Tribune cup and must play the cavalry and Lott teams.

A large crowd witnessed the game here Monday and fans here hope the other games will be played in Cameron.

Crossing Signals

Traffic signals are being installed by the Santa Fe railroad at the power plant crossing and at the crossing near the station. With the completion of these signals safety measures long advocated by the people here will make traffic more safe over the lines.

The commercial club and the city council has been active in getting these improvements and the Santa Fe is to be congratulated on this improvement.

SAFETY DEVICE FOR HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

J. A. WALSTON APPLIES FOR PATENT AND BELIEVES
PROBLEM SOLVED

Car drivers in Cameron this week are testing a safety device at the gate leading to the Will Ford farm.

J. A. Walston, contractor here, has perfected a safety device for rail road crossings and the idea has been submitted to the state highway department as well as patent applied for from the patent office at Washington.

Those interested may drive out to the Ford gate and test out this invention. It is made twenty feet wide and is put there as a test to prove its value as a safety device for traffic over railroads.

This device was first made known to close friends of Mr. Walston shortly after the accident at Round Rock last year when ten Baylor football stars were killed in a crash.

SAYS NEW HOTEL FOR CAMERON PROBABLE

S. M. BURNS HAS MAN WHO ASKS
FOR SITE FOR FOUR
STORY BUILDING

Cameron seems nearer a new hotel than at any time in recent months.

Architects are in Cameron today in consultation with a local citizen who has been interested in financing or building a hotel.

In addition to this, according to S. M. Burns, he is in touch with a party who asks nothing but a site and if given this amount he will build a four story hotel in Cameron.

Mr. Burns is active in behalf of the project and believes the city is nearer a hotel now than for several months. Developments will be watched with interest by the people of Cameron.

The word 'silk' is believed to have originated from the Chinese word for fabric 'si'.

Aftermath Of The Election

The Houston Chronicle of date August 3rd, states, "An active, aggressive minority actuated mainly by selfishness Monday forced an inactive, unorganized majority whose controlling characteristic was indifference. The majority won, hands down. The ballot cast represents not more than 15 per cent of the qualified vote."

This is a serious indictment against the militant force of citizens who were responsible for the defeat of the amendments in the election held Monday. If we view the result correctly the proponents of the amendments represent the minority. The Chronicle states, "the majority whose controlling characteristic was indifference." The controlling characteristic was lack of merit in the propositions advanced and the manner in which they were submitted. It was indifference all right, but the majority was not indifferent, but refused to follow the Chronicle and a few others in their fallacious arguments.

If the Chronicle and Post-Dispatch with every issue of their papers urging the people to support the amendments and Dan Moody broadcasting by radio were unable to arouse the "controlling majority," it ought to occur to the Chronicle that probably quite a number of people out of deference to Dan Moody did not vote, but should they have voted would have voted against the amendments. In other words the followers of the Chronicle and Dan Moody were not tied, and with the publicity which had been given the amendments they cannot plead lack of understanding or information. The people were convinced it was not for their good. Broadcasting expresses it fully. Broad statements were made when specific and definite arguments were demanded.

This paper does not consider it was a contest between Ferguson and Moody, as some have termed it. Personalities fade into insignificance compared with fundamental principles. Dan Moody said, "virtually all the people opposed to the amendment were 'enemies to progress.'" He further attributes defeat to the activity of the corporations.

These amendments were opposed by the railway people, milling interests, banking interests, business and professional men, real estate men, the splendid daily and weekly papers and by the great body of farmers of this state. It was well nigh unanimous, and we do not believe the Chronicle and Gov. Moody will get anywhere by attributing defeat to the 'enemies to progress, activity of corporations and selfishness of the people.' The people did have a selfish, intense and eager desire to protect and safe guard their rights, liberties and fundamental principles of government. In that they were selfish and succeeded.

What happened to the amendments is what always happens when a candidate or proposition is defeated. They just failed to get enough votes. Consider the vote on the amendments in Milam County. There are 48 voting boxes in the county. We have complete returns from about 40 boxes and so far not one amendment has carried at a single box. The Judiciary amendment was endorsed by a committee from the Milam County Bar, yet it fared little better in the county than the other amendments. The failure to get enough votes is a perfect diagnosis of the case.

Do you believe for a moment that the people opposing these amendments in this county were actuated by selfishness? Do you believe they are the 'enemies to progress?' Do you believe they are controlled by the corporations? That the voters opposing these amendments ought to be dubbed 'enemies to progress, actuated by a selfish and ulterior motive and controlled by the corporations.' If this is the true version then it brands practically the entire citizenship of the county, as all of the amendments met a fate of about ten to one at the hands of the voters.

This paper does not concede to any paper, individual or set of people that it or they are the embodiment of all the knowledge, intelligence, patriotism or sincerity of purpose. On the other hand we are aware of the fact that the people generally sometime waver, floundered about and are vacillating, but when a great crises arises or emergency exists the great mass of voters can be depended upon to the uttermost. This is exactly what happened in the consideration of the four amendments.

The Chronicle and Gov. Moody got a severe drubbing. One richly deserved. You cannot flirt or dicker with the rights and liberties of the people. They are not to be treated lightly.

Whenever a great newspaper and a good man arrogates unto itself or himself that they stand for all that's good, for all that's holy, and the opinions of an outraged public are only the bickerings of a misguided and selfish people, then that great newspaper has gone far beyond the purpose for which it was founded, and even that good man has greatly exceeded the authority vested in him as an officer under the constitution and laws of the State.

DEFEAT OF AMENDMENTS LAUDED BY CITIZENS

CAMERON MEN SEE RIGHTS OF PEOPLE PRESERVED IN BALLOT TEST

The people of Milam county and of the state of Texas are to be congratulated on their vote Monday in defeating the four constitutional amendments, say a number of Cameron citizens who have commented on the results of the election.

The vote in Milam county was gratifying as well as the decisive majority against the amendments over the state.

The Herald below publishes a number of statements obtained from some of the men who were interested in seeing the measures defeated at the polls.

J. K. Freeman—"Milam county should be proud of the vote against the amendments. The good old county of Milam continues to hold her place in the lead for intelligence and for patriotism. May the future bring to her prosperity and all the good things her noble people deserve."

H. M. Hefley—"Milam county played well her part in voting down the amendments. Let us now come together and work as one people for the prosperity and welfare of all."

W. W. Chambers—"The people of Milam county will not surrender the rights guaranteed to them under the constitution to the legislature. That's all there is to it."

B. P. Matocha—"The amendments were defeated by the people of Texas because they believed their rights are safer in the hands of the people than they are in the hands of the legislature."

A. N. Green—"Now that the amendments have been defeated, the result of the election should dictate a policy that in the future measures to amend the constitution should originate with the people. I would like to see all amendments in the future sponsored by the people and not submitted by a small minority. The election proves the people know how to vote on important measures."

A. F. Mitchell—"Hurrah for the Democrats of Texas! I think the people voted wisely in the election on Monday and I am pleased with the defeat of the amendments. The people can always be depended upon to solve their problems in a safe and sane manner."

MAJORITIES AGAINST AMENDMENTS HEAVIER

PEOPLE OF STATE KILL ALL MEASURES UNDER HEAVY
AVALANCHE

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 2.—Overwhelming opposition buried the four proposed amendments voted on by Texas yesterday. Of 189 counties reported, 26 of them being complete but three favored the amendments which would have changed the judicial system, increased salaries of state officers, abandoned the fee system and changed the system of taxation.

With apparently no more interest in the making of returns than was manifested at the polls yesterday, but 105,952 votes were counted for tonight. But the vote was so decidedly against the amendment that those outstanding in the 253 counties of Texas could have little effect on the result when the ballots were officially tabulated.

The vote tabulated by the Associated Press tonight showed the following results from 189 of the 253 counties, 26 of which were complete: Judiciary, for 21,214; against 83,922; taxation, for 12,014; against 92,944; fee for 17,434; against 87,687; Salaries for 17,313; against 86,639.

REED ROGERS WINS CUP IN TAYLOR GOLF MATCH

MAKES LOW SCORE AT TAYLOR
GOLF TOURNAMENT AND BRINGS CUP TO CITY

In the Nine Hole Golf Association Tournament held at Taylor last week Reed Rogers captured first place with the low gross score. Reed shot 38 and 39 on the 35 par course. Captain Besse of A. & M. College, finished in second place. In winning first place Rogers brings to Cameron the beautiful silver cup given by Temple last year and won by a Taylor member. All the men from Cameron played good golf, it is reported, considering the fact that Taylor has sand greens and this is something to be taken into consideration in the game of golf.

Those entering the tournament from Cameron were: S. A. Cottle, W. O. Newton, Walter Sharpe, Alex Triggs, Dr. Tom Denson and Reed Rogers.

A LIVING AND NOT A DEAD GOD VITAL NEED OF THE WORLD SAYS KENNEY IN DIAGNOSING THEOLOGY OF TODAY

Theology and religion must be awakened and is being aroused to throw off antiquated ideas about God and the world today is largely worshipping a dead God, declared Rev. H. G. Kenney, modernist minister in a sermon at the First Methodist church Sunday night. The sermon was preached on invitation of the pastor, Rev. L. J. Power who was to be absent from his pulpit. The sermon which follows is interesting and was heard by a large congregation.

The text is an expression found on almost every page of the Bible: "The Living God."

The first lesson taught me after entering the Theological Seminary was that there had never been a race of people who did not believe in a God or Gods.

I was then younger than I now am, and very much more inexperienced. It was, therefore, only natural that I should take the good professor's word for it.

After leaving the Seminary, and coming in contact with people of all walks of life, I came to see that there was not a word of truth in the statement. The good professor was so far wrong that I even doubted if there had ever been a race who actually did believe in a God or Gods.

It all depends, I suppose, upon what one means by "belief in God." If one means a philosophy, theology, or creed, perhaps my teacher was right. If, however, one means the application of God to every day life then we are entirely wrong.

When I was quite a boy I used to wonder what the preacher meant by "belief in God," "belief in Christ." I have sat with my parents many times in revival meetings, where the emotions were running riot, and heard the preacher urge those at the "mourners bench" to believe on Jesus Christ. What did he mean by such a statement? Did he mean that they were to believe in a certain definition of the Christ? Or, did he mean that they were to apply the principles of Christ to their daily living? Surely he could not have meant the later, for they were in no condition to make far reaching decisions like that.

Now, believe in God meant one thing to Jesus, it means a thousand things

HIPS COMING BACK, ALSO CURVES
PARIS DRESSMAKERS DECREE
SHORT HAIR VOGUE THREATENED

Paris, July 30.—Knees are to go into eclipse next winter. Waistlines will be worn and hips have been reinstated.

This bulletin from the sanctums of the dressmakers, where winter fashions are being shown to buyers from the United States and other countries, may have an immediate effect on the white bread and pastry consumption of the world.

If women follow Paris—and they have done so for centuries—curves will be worn again without apology.
Bread and potatoes fit right in with the be-more-feminine campaign, which includes everything connected with the fashion trade from hair goods to jewelry.

Short hair is threatened, if not doomed by the fashion makers. Now that ruffles are back, with all they stand for, almost anything may happen in the world of style.

Not all the important dressmakers have shown their collections, as yet.
Some of the leaders are still to come.

But even if well-known houses contradict curves, the buyers have seen and liked them and placed many orders for clothes which are fitted to the waist line.

Many of these models have circular skirts and nearly all of them reach several inches below the knee. They give back to women that old familiar
"fair sex" look, of which shingles, shins and trouser-skirts had robbed them. Even designers who have not gone the whole way toward curves and the new silhouette have edged away from masculine styles.

The re-discovery of hips is the most startling development of the style changes. The reducing parlors and de luxe gymnasiums which thrive in Paris already are worried by the threat of slenderness contained in the new curved line.

Part of the back-to-feminine move is the partial eclipse of sport clothes for day-long wear and the reinstatement of afternoon dresses.

Texas Leads Nation
In Farm Owned
Cars Records Show

Texas leads all other states in the number of farm-owned automobiles with 285,276, according to a report made public by the research bureau of the Coleman Lamp and Stove company here.

Illinois ranks second with 233,166, the report sets forth. Ohio is third with 231,977. Then comes Iowa with 229,000, Pennsylvania with 219,288,
New York with 204,391 and Wisconsin with 204,182.

Number of farm-owned automobiles
for farm work has greatly increased agricultural efficiency in recent years, says the report. "Adoption of other labor saving devices including milking machines, tractors, safety pressure gasoline lanterns providing adequate lighting and cultivators have enabled farmers to boost their earnings by accomplishing more work. Household drudgery of farmers' wives has been greatly lightened by introduction of gasoline pressure stoves providing quick clean heat, washing machines and running water.

Seven states have more than 200,
000 farm-owned automobiles, the report points out.

A Word With
the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

NEW FORD CAR TO BE ON SALE SOON

MANUFACTURER EXPECTS TO SELL 15 MILLION MORE IN NEXT 19 YEARS

Detroit, Mich., July 30.—Henry Ford believes an automobile trade war would be wasteful and bad policy for all companies concerned; that the dreaded saturation point in automobile production is a myth; he does not plan abandoning the low priced car field, and believes his company will surpass its own record of producing 15,000,000 cars in 19 years, with the new Ford car soon to be introduced on the market.

The industrial wizard expressed his views on some pertinent subjects which have been the basis of sensational rumors within and without the automotive industry during the past few months, to a group of associates here on the occasion of his 64th birthday.

In reference to the trade war rumor, Ford declared:

"We have no desire to take business away from any automobile manufacturer. Our thought has always been that the automobile business is prosperous only when all of the makers of cars are busy. If any particular automobile company's success meant putting out of business some other automobile manufacturer, there would be no gain to that; it would only mean putting thousands of men out of work, letting valuable power go to waste and maybe, throwing a great industry out of balance."

Saturation Is Bugaboo

Discussing the saturation point bugaboo, Ford said the best expression of his views on that subject could be gleaned from the fact that he planned to go far beyond previous production records in the coming years.

"We built 15,000,000 model T cars in less than 19 years, and we expect to build many more than 15,000,000 of the new cars in much less than 19 years."

"That might sound strange, but you must realize that there are still parts of the world where there are families without automobiles. There are some parts of the world where whole families have never seen an automobile."

Ford would not discuss the details of design of his coming new car. He said he expected to announce a complete description of the new model within a few weeks.

Of the many rumors circulated about the new car, Ford said most were misleading. "There's the matter of price, for example. We didn't build this Ford to fit a price, but we are certainly not abandoning the low-priced field."

Ford revealed that he had been testing out his new car for the past several months over Michigan roads. Wednesday and Thursday of this week were spent in long motor and speed tests in drives through upper Michigan with his son, Edsel, the magnet said. It has been a practice of Ford to handle all such tests personally. He said he had been experimenting with new and improved types of automobiles for several years and had actually built many new experimental models.

"But it is one thing to build experimental models in a laboratory and a very different thing to retell the biggest manufacturing plant in the world for mass production of new models," he said.

Ford discussed the passing of his famous model T, upon which the foundation of his huge fortune was built, with regret. The old car built the experience and earned the money to make the new car possible, he said. The company has paid $547,000,000 into the coffers of the Treasury in taxes on these cars and has expended money running into the billions of dollars in salaries to employees. In addition, Ford estimated, $4,868,427,012 had been expended in this country in Canada and abroad during the past 19 years for materials used in construction of the cars.

Trillions of Miles Traveled

Before the last of the model T cars have gone into the junk heap the entire fleet of 15,000,000 will have consumed 60,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 1,800,000,000 gallons of oil and will have traveled more than one trillion one hundred and eighty-five billion miles, Ford said.

Ford spent his birthday engaged in his usual busy routine of business affairs. He had no time to celebrate, he said, but declared himself to be in the best of health and planning an even bigger task than he has accomplished thus far.

"I am in better health than I was four years ago," Ford said. "More wit in every way. You see I have got a job to do," he added, alluding to the work of preparing the introduction of his new car.

Ford arose early Saturday morning and issued instructions regarding an entertainment scheduled for night at the Dearborn Country Club. He was at his laboratories at 8 a. m., conferring with engineers. An hour later he inspected some antiques and then toured the Dearborn plant of the company. In the afternoon he took a trip to the Fordson plant to inspect some new boilers. The remainder of the day was spent in conference with his associates and inspection of plans for the new car.

Congratulatory telegrams from old friends, among them Thomas A. Edison and Harvey S. Firestone, came during the day. During a chat with his associates some one jokingly asked him his plans for the future.

"I am going to do one thing only—the thing I know best how to do," Ford replied.

to us. If you ask one hundred men what is meant by "belief in God", you will get exactly one hundred answers. If you ask Jesus you will get one, and only one, answer: "Living every day as if God were your companion." Donald Hankey very beautifully states the same thing: "Belief in God is betting your life there is a God." It is a great pity that "belief in God" has become identified with emotionalism, fanaticism, and creeds and dogmas. It all leads one to believe that religion is a way of thinking, while in reality it is a way of living.

This woman, about whom we read, who talked with Jesus at Jacob's well, was positive she believed in God. She was very anxious to discuss the matter with Jesus. And yet, for all her belief in God, she was living in open adultery. How expressive that is of our belief today.

The striking thing about our text is that it speaks of God as a living God. Most of us do not seem to realize that. We are in the habit of thinking of Him as dead rather than living. It is said, by Maurice, I think, that Thomas Carlyle believed in a God who lived till the death of Oliver Cromwell. But then, Carlyle was not the only one to bury his God. I wonder what we think we are doing when we come here on Sundays and piously repeat: "I believe in God the Father Almighty," and then go out to cheat, oppress, take unfair advantage of our "inferiors," and a thousand other things? Surely you can see that it is no more and no less than worshipping a God who is alive only on Sundays.

We want, then, to get at the practical side of this "living God". And, first, if God is to mean anything to this 20th century, He must be a thinking and speaking God. For He cannot be a living God under any other condition. I said a moment ago that Carlyle believed in a God who died with Cromwell. There are countless numbers of people living today who believe in a God who lived until the last book of the Bible was written, and then died. There are many others who think of God as living up until the death of the 17th century creed writers, and then died. For, my friends, if God has not been able to speak to men for several centuries, then what else can it mean but that He is dead?

If, then, God has been unable to speak and reveal Himself to us for so long, then we had just as well bury Him, and be done with the whole matter.

A God who means no more than a book written 1900 years ago or a creed written 300 years ago, may satisfy a few for a time; but He is not the kind of a God the world is needing. He simply must be a living speaking companion of men as they live and walk today.

In my early ministry I was preaching one Sunday from the last words of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel story. I was stressing the fact that here were His last words, and as such were of peculiar interest to us. After the service a man with no little scientific training came to me and said: "Mr. Kenney, I have a greater Christ than yours. While yours has been silent for many centuries, mine spoke to me only yesterday." "The living God." How that expression rings itself over and over again in both the Testaments. It challenges us to come into the presence of a God who thinks and plans just as we do.

Now, I'll grant you that at times it is quite convenient to have a dead God. When we get down to pray for God's kingdom to come, and for His will to be done on earth as it is done in heaven, when we know quite well that that is the last thing on earth we want, it is then quite consoling to think of God as dead and not likely to answer such a prayer. But we need not wonder why we have not taken the world for God.

Then, too, if God is to be real to us, He must be an experiencing God. Now this too is covered by the expression, "the living God." Life is measured by its capacity for experience.

I remember asking my Sunday school teacher a question which has been asked a million times by boys and girls, and as many times dismissed as silly: "Can God suffer?" My teacher dismissed me with this answer: "Of course not. He would never be God if He could." That answer bothered me for many years to come. If God can not suffer how can He know anything about the life of suffering we are called upon to live?

The simple truth is, if God cannot suffer, then He is dead. For where there is life there is capacity to suffer. Only dead things are immune to suffering. I like, then, to let this thought of a "living God" linger in my mind.

Moody, I think it is, tells the story of a little girl who rushed in where her father was and asked this question: "If God is everywhere, will it hurt Him if I saw the legs off my high chair?" The question was dismissed with the customary, "Of course not." "Now frankly tell me," says Moody, "is that a satisfactory answer? Would it not be better to explain that there is no life in the chair, and, therefore, no capacity to suffer? To answer a child like that will lead her to think in after life that God would not suffer if she sawed off a human leg."

Now, all this, my friends, simply throws us back on our dead God. For all life, however it got here, came from God. It is, then, impossible to cause pain to life without causing pain to God. If, then, God cannot suffer, He is dead, and has nothing to offer to men and women who are called upon to live in a world of pain.

Lastly, a "living God" means a doing God. The old idea of God creating everything in six days, and that He has been on holiday ever since, does not take so well with thoughtful people today. We can see too many things that need to be done to think of God as being on a holiday. As a matter of fact if God has finished this universe, we are bound to admit that He did not do a very good job, considering the power He is supposed to have had. Things are entirely too incomplete for us to hold for a minute such a thought.

There is one thing the doctrine of evolution has done for our religion. Whether or not you accept the theory, you are bound to admit that it has brought God back from His long vacation, and put Him to work in His universe. For evolution, if it is true, could never have gone on, with steady progress, unless there had been intelligence back of it.

Yes, there are too many things yet to be done for us to have any use for a dead God. Injustice meets us at every turn of the road. Biologists tell us, and not without reason, that man is very incomplete, and that what he will one day be, is beyond the power of the mind to grasp. Overlapping seasons, earthquakes, floods and tornadoes. All these things are badly in need of attention. Hear, then, this characteristic word of all the Bible writers: The Living God. Bury your dead God, and align yourself with the ever living Lord of life and death.

Bridge Party

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season was the beautiful bridge party given on the lawn last Friday evening by Miss Dulce McCall, Mrs. Edgar George and Mrs. Thad Epperson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCall.

Attractive Japanese lanterns were arranged at intervals to illuminate the lawn, where six tables were provided for the players. The color scheme was pink and lavender and was effectively carried out in the floral decorations of pink and lavender zinnias and perennial phlox. The table accessories also featured the chosen color scheme. Punch was served throughout the evening by Misses Lois Mayes of Maysfield and Dallis Young.

High score was won by Mrs. Hamilton Bonnet of Dallas, and she was awarded a bridge set. Miss Lois Burnett received consolation, a hand embroidered linen guest towel.

A delicious salad and ice course with angel food squares was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Helen, Nell and Lois Mayes of Maysfield.

Birthday Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White presented a most attractive appearance Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. White gave a lawn party honoring the seventh birthday of her little daughter, Mary Frances.

Forty-six little guests were bidden to this elaborate party and their games were directed by Misses Gladys Blaylock, Adeyn Lovick and Henriem Hefley.

When the beautiful birthday cake with decorations of pink rosebuds and topped with pink candles was cut, those receiving favors were: Dana Monroe, the thimble; Billie Cooper, the dime; Zora Clark Wilkerson, the toothpick; Bobbie Hays, the wishbone; Jack Garth Cammer, the ring; Inez Miller and Elizabeth Fanning, the buttons.

Mrs. White, assisted by Mrs. Gohmert, Mrs. Keith, Mrs. Wilkerson and Miss Maurine Lovick served cream cones, cake and mints. Upon arrival the little guests were served lemonade and cakes.

The little honoree was the recipient of many beautiful gifts from her friends. One of the most appreciated gifts were seven bright, shining silver dollars given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. White.

Out of town guests to enjoy this party were: Ralston Brown of Karnes City, Flora Sprott of Marlin, Jack Garth Cammer of Galveston and Inez Miller of Fort Worth.

Keith-Agee Wedding

The following account of the marriage of Miss Kathryn Agee of Austin to Mr. Kenneth Keith of Galveston was solemnized Sunday morning at the Hyde Park Methodist church. This couple formerly resided in Cameron and attended the public schools here. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Agee and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Keith. Both have worlds of friends who wish for them happiness and success in their married life.

Several social affairs were arranged complementing the Keith-Agee wedding. The announcement party was given by a former teacher in Yoe High school, Miss Vera Lee Moore, where the bride and groom attended and she also was sponsor of the senior class the year they graduated. This is the second interesting romance begun in high school, which culminated in a marriage. The first was Mr. Clifton Jenness and Miss Mary Sue Denson.

The best man, Joe Hefley, was a member of their class, and also Miss Lily Kate Beckerman, who gave the wedding music.

Miss Kathryn Agee and Kenneth Charles Keith of Galveston were married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the Hyde Park Methodist church, with Rev. F. H. Hammer, pastor of the church, officiating in the impressive ring ceremony.

A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the decorations of the church and the altar was embanked with ferns and queen's wreath, forming an arch which marks the place where the marriage vows were taken.

Frederick Parsons and Lewis Tidwell, ushers seated the wedding guests and conducted the members of the families to their pews, which were marked by white satin ribbon.

Miss Melba Lu McDaniel of Floresville, sang, "O. Promise Me," previous to the reading of the marriage service and was accompanied by Miss Lily Kate Beckerman of Cameron, who sounded the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march as the maid of honor and sister of the bride, Miss Doris Agee, entered the church. Little Mary Jeanette Coeheram, scattering rose petals from a dainty basket, preceded the bride, who entered the aisle on the arm of her brother, Edwin L. Agee of Houston, by whom she was given in marriage. The bridegroom and best man, Joe Hefley of Austin, met them at the altar and Miss Beckerman played "Venetian Love Song" very softly during the ceremony. At the close, Miss McDaniel sang, "I Love You Truly" and the bridal party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride wore a becoming tailored costume of navy crepe, in a new weave, with trimmings of gray. There was a touch of gray on her hat, which was an early autumn model of navy felt and her bouquet of Sweetheart rosebuds were in shower effect.

TIGHT FEELING

Stomach Troubles Relieved by the Aid of Black-Draught.

Telling how he obtained relief from very disagreeable symptoms of stomach trouble, Mr. Charles T. Wintz, of R. F. D. 4, Huntington, W. Va., made the following statement:

"I began taking Black-Draught about fifteen years ago. I would have gas on my stomach that just pressed and seemed to shorten my breath, and I would have all kinds of feeling. My head would ache and I was in a very bad fix."

"I had tried remedies that didn't seem to do me any good. I saw Black-Draught advertised and sent for it. After taking a few doses, I knew it was helping me. It seemed to break up the gas, and the tight, bloated feeling disappeared, and I was like a new man. I would not be without Black-Draught. I can eat anything I want to. If I get dizziness in the head, Black-Draught relieves it."

Big Eaters Get Kidney Trouble

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

THRALL FARMER IN 13 YEARS PAYS $16,000 FOR FARM; LOANS $18,000

By Victor H. Schoffelmayer, Agriculture Editor of the Semi-Weekly Farm News.)

Never coming to town except when he has something to sell, never buying any feed for his livestock or food for his family which can be grown on his farm, attending to his farming operations like a business man looks after his business has enabled Emil J. Kautz, Williamson County farmer, to pay off a $16,000 debt on his farm in thirteen years, besides investing some $18,000 in loans. That is pretty good for a farm of 95 1-2 acres of loamy black bottom land near Thrall. Also it is pretty good for a farmer letter carrier, who to this day still keeps the map of his route in Taylor and proudly shows it to callers.

Mr. Kautz belongs to that class of farmers who waste nothing. All the manure from the barns and chicken yard, all the straw on the place, are made to give an account of themselves in Mr. Kautz' plan of farming. He frequently hauls stable manure from Taylor to his farm and gets it for the hauling. He knows that to make land produce profitably it must be fed in proportion to crop needs.

The distinguishing characteristic of Mr. Kautz probably is his inventive genius. He all his life has experimented not only in crop production methods, but in mechanical appliances on the farm. One of his inventions is a homemade device for mulching the cotton rows after cultivation, which he declares will keep moisture in the ground longer than perhaps any other device he has had experience with. Having lived all his life in a region of sometimes uncertain rainfall where it was necessary to conserve the moisture which happened to come at a particular time, he devised a method which would insure him a crop when others had failed.

One-Half Feed and Food

"Always I plant about one-half of my farm in feed and food crops," said Mr. Kautz to the writer. "If I do that I don't have to worry about what the price of my cotton is going to be. I never could understand the farmer who raises cotton only and thinks he can get by. It just can't be done."

"The farmer who can not make a living in Texas has not learned how to manage his farm. We have always made a good living and money besides. We keep cows, hogs, a few sheep at times, a good flock of chickens and enough horses and mules to do all our work on schedule. By watching the work we do not get behind."

"My two boys take an interest in farming and when they come home from school in Taylor every day they want to help me feed the stock, or work in the garden or do odd jobs. I can hardly keep them from cutting the oats or cultivating of something they are so wrapped up in our farm."

Of the 198 acres which compose Mr. Kautz's new farm at the edge of the city of Taylor (with thirty acres inside the city limits) only eighty acres are in cotton. There are thirty acres of oats, ten acres of redtop sorghum, six acres of Johnson grass meadow, thirty acres of pasture, two acres of Irish cobbler potatoes, one acre of garden and one acre of family orchard. Mr. Kautz took his farm after January 1, 1927, and another year will lay out the crops differently, as he inherited some crops from his predecessor. The present Kautz place lies high above Taylor and from his front porch and yard he can look down into the town. The view at night is especially fine, with the lights twinkling through the trees.

Two Years of Feedstuffs

With much pride Mr. Kautz made the writer climb up into his hay loft and look at the two years' supply of redtop sorghum hay and Sudan grass and German millet mixed hay which he had brought with him from the former farm near Thrall. The hay was exceptionally clean and bright and is being fed to a herd of Jersey cows and work stock.

There were bins full of corn, enough to last a whole season if corn should fail this year, which is not likely, as the season in Williamson County is one of the best in years. There was a large quantity of feterita, darco and milo maize heads which were raised on the other farm and which will supplement the corn.

Some of the other items to be listed on the Kautz farm are:

Four Jersey cows, which produce a quantity of cream delivered to a Taylor creamery station; a small herd of Duroc-Jersey hogs and some Poland Chinas, four horses and five mules, a flock of 200 Brown Leghorn hens and Barred Rocks, which have been laying all winter with eggs selling as high as 50c and as low as 20c a dozen.

One year when nobody had any eggs to sell over at Thrall Mr. Kautz got 60c a dozen. He managed to have eggs because he had plenty of feed.

"My hens pick up the waste when we feed our horses and mules the millet. Millet is one of the best egg-laying feeds I know of," said Mr. Kautz. "It pays to have chickens around when you feed live stock, or there will be a lot of waste."

Mr. Kautz stated that a mixture of Sudan grass and German millet of eight acres made wonderful pasture for fourteen head of cattle and that it grew six or seven feet tall and mowed twice after pasturing.

When money is a little scarce Mr. Kautz kills a few hogs and sells the meat, backbones and sausage to Taylor customers at fancy prices. He always has the hogs.

Mr. Kautz has been in The News More Cotton on Fewer Acres contest for the last three years and again in the contest this season. Last season he made two bales an acre of contest land and won the Central prize of $300 and the Taylor Chamber of Commerce prize of $150.

He plants quality cotton, usually Bennett, but this year has Lone Star on his five acres and on the rest of his farm.

"Oh, yes, I fertilize, but I think the best fertilizer for the black land is barnyard manure, which I save," said Mr. Kautz. "I hauled out seventy-two loads of manure which had accumulated in the barn on my present farm and put it all on the five acres I have entered in The News cotton contest."

The writer inspected this five acres and found it to be on a high ridge. The soil is quite chalky, but has been enriched with the fertilizer and is holding moisture splendidly.

Mr. Kautz was one of the first farmers in Williamson County to use commercial fertilizers and has found nitrate of soda and phosphoric acid to be profitable, especially in seasons of sufficient rainfall.

There are two sons, one 13 and another 15, in the family and three small daughters. Mr. Kautz has a pantry full of canned vegetables and fruits off the farm. New potatoes, beans and peas out of the garden were served in the table during the writer's visit. The Kautzes live well because they manage well. They do not have to sell their cotton until the price suits them. That is the only system for them. First a "living at home," after that cotton a surplus cash crop.

There were 27,398,170 pupils enrolled last year in the 263,280 schools of the United States.

MEN WHO DEED PROPERTY TO GOD, PAY FINE FOR MISDEMEANOR AND AGREE TO PAY ALL STATE TAXES

Pleas of guilty were entered in the County Court last Monday August 1st in the cases of the State of Texas vs. Rudolph and L. J. Bowling for failure and refusal to render their property for taxation, and they were fined $20.00 and costs.

These parties were arrested on July 30th by Sheriff Blaylock at Gause and were brought to Cameron. They refused to make bail and sued out a writ of habeas corpus before District Judge, John Watson, who remanded them to the custody and still refusing, they were placed in jail until the meeting of the County Court on August 1st.

Following the pleas of guilty entered by the men, they agreed to pay the county all taxes due on the property they own at Gause which they had asserted belonged to God and for the Almighty.
